I would like to voice my oppositions to having the public utility of Carolina Water Service, Incorporated for Approval to Charge Actual Cost for Pumping Interceptor Tanks. Carolina Water Service aka Blue Granite Company has not proven that they are reliable or above reproach in their handling of the public's interest in a public utility. Arbitrarily pumping of an interceptor tank and passing the warranted or unwarranted expense on to the consumer gives the utility unprecedented opportunity to generate revenue without accountability and the potential to benefit a third party of their choosing. Personally, I take care of my own property and have had the tank recently pumped. If they want to alert the homeowner to a situation and allow the homeowner a period of time to rectify that would be a bit more reasonable.

Very Respectfully,

Jack A. Stewart, AIC
